Most people never think twice about font choice when writing their CV, but recruiters notice it immediately. Fonts like Comic Sans or overly decorative styles instantly make a CV look unprofessional and hard to read. Clean, simple fonts like Calibri, Arial, or Garamond are widely recommended across the Irish recruitment industry. A cv writing service ireland pays close attention to typography because readability directly affects how long a recruiter stays on your page. A CV that is easy on the eye gets read properly — one that strains the eyes gets skipped over quickly.
